Mummers Set For Big Parade

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — The glittering spectacle of 15,000 gayly-costumed mummers on parade tomorrow will usher in the New Year for Philadelphians.

The seven-mile parade will be witnessed in person by an anticipated 300,000 or more and by countless other thousands of television viewers.

The 25 string bands—a tradition in mummer circles—will provide the marching music—such as "Oh, Dem Golden Slippers" and "Maggie."

The marchers, who will take nearly five hours to pass a given point, will be competing for $50,000 in prizes.

Fervent preparations for the parade have been underway for weeks. The mummers—all men or boys—and their wives, sweethearts and sisters, have been sewing the spangled costumes in vacant rooms above stores, their homes and neighborhood clubhouses.

The tradition has its roots in South Philadelphia, where roving neighborhood bands donned costumes in years gone by to serenade friends and relatives by way of welcoming the New Year. Eventually the bands grew and the idea of a parade up Philadelphia's broad street was born. The first was held in 1901.

Rare Bird Sighted

GRAND RAPIDS — (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Galloway of nearby Boetwisch Lake ran for their bird book when they spotted a long, black, slim bird with a red tinge over one eye. They concluded the weird looking and acting bird was a pileated woodpecker, a rare species nowadays.

Guided Missile May Make Man-Flown Bombers Obsolete

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The United States may be starting to build the last of the man-flown bombers.

When these big planes reach the obsolete age, a new generation of transoceanic guided missiles and pilotless aircraft are expected to be ready to take over the long range aerial bombardment jobs.

But, airmen familiar with planning for the future, told a reporter today that doesn't mean the current heavyweight bombers will be out of date soon.

Revolver Stops Chimney Ripper

BALTIMORE — (AP) — The one-man gang who went on the rampage and damaged 11 row houses with his bare hands died this morning of bullet wounds inflicted when a policeman shot him to halt the mad spree.

Albert J. Tibbs, stocky 26-year-old Negro, was pronounced dead at 2:15 a. m. (EST) in Provident hospital.

Tibbs shattered the Sunday afternoon quiet yesterday when he slipped through the window of his third-floor room to the rooftop to begin a reign of destruction that required a slug from a police revolver to halt.

Officers said Tibbs ripped with his bare hands big chunks out of chimneys on the 11 houses kicked in nine skylights, uprooted a television aerial, fell through the roof of one house where he wrecked two bedrooms, tore out the plumbing and caused a minor flood, then did battle with a policeman.

Patrolman John Popp raced into the house and up the stairs, but a rain of bricks with a radio thrown in for good measure gave the officer pause.

Popp said he was forced to shoot to stop Tibbs. The slug lodged in a thigh.

Uniformed men from five police cars, two fire engines and an ambulance closed in for the capture.

Collision With Bus
Kills Two Women
Near Midland, Mich.

MIDLAND, Mich. — (AP) — Two unidentified women were killed near here this morning when their car collided head on with a bus.

No passengers on the bus, operated by the Yellow Bus Co. of Flint, were reported injured in the accident which occurred on US-10 at Averill, six miles northwest of here.

The bus and car hit with such force that sheriff's deputies were unable to separate the two vehicles.

The bus was carrying employees of the Midland Dow Chemical Co. to their homes in Mt. Pleasant and Clare.

Preacher Wins Liars' Title At Burlington, Wis.

By JOHN MCNELLY
BURLINGTON, Wis. — (AP) — Flabbergasted judges of the Burlington Liars' club today pinned the title of the World's Champion Liar on a member of the clergy—the Rev. Arthur R. Kirk of Biggs, Calif.

O. C. Huelt, president of the club, said the club's officers, acting as judges, came to a unanimous decision on the winner of their 1951 contest "and then almost fainted when they looked at the name signed at the bottom of the letter."

Busy Watermelons
Here's what Mr. Kirk, pastor of the Biggs Community church, wrote:

"A man living west of town tried to raise watermelons this summer. He had very bad luck. The soil was too rich. The watermelon vines grew so fast that they wore the watermelons out, dragging them along on the ground."

"One of the boys from town went out one night to swipe a melon. He got the melon all right, but the vines were growing so fast that warm night that the boy had to be taken to the hospital. Before he could break the melon off the vine, it had dragged him half a mile and he was in bad shape."

A woman broke into the honorable mention column with a yarn about Minnesota mosquitoes. Mrs. Faith B. Fourie of Minneapolis, Minn., related: "As we were on our way home from berry picking, we took a shortcut through a rough cow pasture, when all of a sudden we heard the loud clanging of a cow-bell. Wondering what was the matter with our old milk cow, I went to investigate, and found that our Minnesota mosquitoes had eaten the cow—and were ringing the bell, trying to coax her calf out of the brush, where they could get at him."

Fish Swim In Dust
This fishy tale won honorable mention for Oswald J. Solheim of Hudson, Wis.:
"Down in Arizona last summer the rivers were so dry that when the fish swam up-stream, all you could see was a cloud of dust. Some of the older fish, whom had had two or three years of practice, would blow "smoke rings" of alkali through their gills."

Another honorable mention went to E. L. Morris of San Antonio, Tex., for this quickie:

"My neighbor, a chicken and egg producer, fed his hens a concoction of sawdust instead of laying mash. The dumb hens won't know the difference," he said. But he was surprised when instead of eggs, he found the nests full of knotholes."

Airframe Streamlined
Using the B-52 as an example, military aviation officials make these points:

As combat planes, go it will last a long time (perhaps five or ten years) because the aerodynamic design of the airframe appears to be about the maximum that can be expected. It is as streamlined, as efficient for lift as the drafting board men can make it.

The airframe design will live (Continued on page 10)

Reds Accused Of Planning War While Negotiating For Truce

By DON HUTH

MUNSAN, Korea — (AP) — In final Korean truce talks of 1951, the United Nations today accused the Reds of planning war while negotiating a truce and of trying to squirm out of an agreement to tell what happened to more than 50,000 unaccounted for prisoners of war.

Subcommittees wound up the year still deadlocked on the issues of policing an armistice and exchanging prisoners of war. Both groups scheduled meetings in Panmunjom for 11 a. m. Tuesday — New Year's day (9 p. m. Monday, EST).

Aim Is Not Peace
"By your assumed attitude of a victor and your insistence on developing a military air capability (airfields) you have served clear notice to the world that what you have in mind is not peace but war," said Maj. Gen. Howard M. Turner, chief negotiator. "You have cast an ominous shadow over these negotiations x x x."

Rear Adm. R. E. Libby said the Communists refused to provide data on prisoners the U. N. says were not listed on the official Red roster until the Allies supply further information on prisoners in U. N. camps. Most of the 50,000 the U. N. claims were listed as prisoners by the Reds in official radio broadcasts were South Koreans.

Just Making Notions
The Communists insisted Monday that they already had turned over all basis data on war prisoners and only "minutiae" was left. Libby declared it was not "minutiae" but "a grave matter."

An official U. N. spokesman, Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckolls said it appeared to him that the Reds were "just going through the motions. They had nothing new to say."

The question of whether the communists should be allowed to construct military airfields in North Korea during an armistice is the principal stumbling block to agreement on truce supervision—item three on the armistice talks agenda.

No More Concessions
The U. N. command insists that the Communists be prohibited from building or repairing air bases. The Reds replied Monday that the Allies have a "high pitched imagination" on the airfields threat.

Turner told the Reds he believed they want "to develop a military capability during an armistice which can be employed quickly and effectively, especially against those who might have been lulled into a false sense of security by the mere existence of an armistice."

North Korean Col. Chang Chun San replied that "any further concessions by us would make us give up the right to defend our integrity and sovereignty. That is impossible."

MIAMI, Fla. — (AP) — A Verbal blast by Gov. Fuller Warren at Walter White, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, and the burning of a 15-foot cross at a Ku Klux Klan meeting featured Florida's bombing news over the weekend.

Warren said White "has come to Florida to try to stir up strife" and continued:

"This hired Harlem nate-monger has poured purchased wrath upon Florida because one of its good colored citizens was murdered by a cowardly assassin."

White, in the state to attend the funeral of Harry T. Moore, Florida secretary of the NAACP who was killed Christmas night when a bomb exploded under his home at Mims, said earlier the governor has consistently refused to take any steps to uphold law and order in connection with the shooting of Negroes charged with rape in Lake county.

Warren's statement said "everything possible is being done to apprehend the killer."

He called White a "ranting racist" and said White issued "a series of false and provocative statements."

Robbed and hooded Klansmen held a meeting at Woodvale, near the state capital city of Tallahassee, Saturday night and burned a 15-foot fiery cross.

Fire Smothers 4 Children In Home Near St. Ignace

ST. IGNACE, Mich. — (AP) — Four small children lost their lives early this morning in a fire which destroyed their family home near here.

State police said three of the children of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Konrad, suffocated in the fire. They were Richard Konrad, 7, his sister, Mary Belle, 4, and their brother, David, 1.

Another brother, John, 5, died shortly after arrival at the War Memorial hospital in Sault Ste. Marie.

Police said only John was burned by the flames which apparently started from a defective oil burner.

The children were sleeping on the second floor of the family home next to the Konrad roadhouse operated by their parents.

The roadhouse and residence located four miles north of here on US-2 lacked city water facilities. Firemen used water from a nearby creek to battle the blaze.

They saved the roadhouse but the residence was destroyed.

Airline Lost On Flight To Buffalo, N. Y.

Wreckage Hunted In Great Lakes Area

(By The Associated Press)

The disappearance of three planes with 68 persons aboard Sunday and Saturday gave the nation one of its grimmest aviation weekends. At the same time, a search continued for another craft lost with eight men.

In addition, a fifth airplane limped 300 miles into San Francisco after it reported engine trouble on a flight from Honolulu.

Radio Contact Cut
Forty persons were aboard a non-scheduled C-46 transport which disappeared Saturday night on a Pittsburgh-to-Buffalo flight. The plane, owned by Continental Charters, Inc., became the object of a wide land-water-air search over its route and the Great Lakes.

An air force C-47, with 27 aboard, has not been heard from since yesterday afternoon when it was 20 miles west of Phoenix, Ariz. The last contact was a radio request for landing instructions during rain and mist.

The C-47 was enroute from Hamilton Air Force Base, Calif., to Goodfellow Air Force Base, Texas. An aerial search was to start at dawn today.

C-97 In Trouble
In another Arizona air incident, an air force F-51 Mustang was reported missing. The F-51 pilot, believed to be the only person aboard, was last heard from yesterday as he sought permission to land at Tucson.

Meanwhile, at Red Bluff, Calif., some 60 air force and civil air patrol planes made a futile search yesterday for a C-47 military craft which vanished Wednesday on a flight from Spokane, Wash., to Travis A. F. Base, North of San Francisco. It was the first time weather permitted an extensive air hunt for the C-47 and its eight passengers.

Ten men were aboard a military C-97, loaded with mail and cargo, when it reported two engines in trouble on a Honolulu-to-San Francisco flight yesterday. An air force rescue plane escorted the C-97 to the Travis base after it radioed for assistance.

MIST HAMPER SEARCH
PITTSBURGH — (AP) — Murky weather hindered a great land-air-water search today for a missing transport plane with 40 occupants which disappeared Saturday

NEW YORK — (AP) — Any peace in Korea may be followed by some "Communist treachery" there, Secretary of State Acheson says, or be offset by a major Red aggression in southeast Asia or other border area.

That prospect was held out by the secretary last night in a year-end foreign policy summary and New Year forecast in which he told the nation that this is no time "to let down at all in vigilance, purpose and effort."

Show Down In 1952
"It is hard to say that any one year is more critical than another," Acheson told a meeting of Jewish war veterans, "but it seems to me certain that we will have it in our power in 1952 to take action, or to withhold action, which will have a decisive effect upon the cause of peace."

The great decisions to be made in the defense of Western Europe, Acheson said, concern a new Atlantic alliance mobilization schedule, the making of a peace contract with West Germany, and the organization of Western European forces to include German units. He predicted action on all these in the first months of 1952.

In addition, he listed outside the European area five danger spots beginning with Korea and requiring constant "vigilance" in the new year.

Britain Pays Up On Loan To U. S.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The United States today collects its first installment on the 1946 British loan of 3 3/4 billion dollars.

The payment, the first to become due over the next 50 years, will amount to almost 139 million dollars. The British owe the U. S. an additional $602,899,000 for World War II aid, and this has been added to the 1946 loan at 2 per cent interest.

Britain had a choice of waiving interest payment amounting to 87 million dollars, but she chose to pay.

When the 1946 loan was extended, U. S. officials predicted that by 1951 Britain would be able to start repaying it without hardship.

However, the British now are beset by new and critical financial problems. Prime Minister Churchill, calling for even more austerity, has ordered a one billion dollar cut in British purchases abroad to cope with a soaring trade deficit.

Today's payment probably will be made without fanfare through the federal reserve bank in New York City.

Great Britain Swept By Wind And Floods

LONDON — (AP) — Floods today added to the havoc caused by 100-mile-an-hour winds which swept Britain over the weekend leaving at least 12 dead and hundreds of thousands of dollars in damage.

Weather experts say it may prove to be the worst storm of the century. Highest wind recorded in Britain was 101-miles-an-hour at Turnhouse Airport, Edinburgh.

Gusts of 90 miles an hour were common throughout the isles.

Communist Treachery Expected By Acheson After Korean Peace

The critical other points listed were Indo-China, Burma, Egypt and Iran.

He gave this summary:

1. Korea—even if an armistice is signed, he said, "we shall have to remain on guard against a renewal of Communist treachery."

Furthermore there will remain the economic task of rebuilding the land and the political task of unifying the country "on a basis that provides a decent chance for the Koreans to live as free men."

In discussing the Korean situation, Acheson declared "we shall not rest until our men who are being held prisoner are released * * * and shall stand firm against any settlement that rewards aggression, or compromises the security of the republic of Korea."

2. Indochina—During 1951 the Communist threat in Indochina "has been contained" by the joint

Hundreds Of Sports Fans Marooned By Blizzard In Rockies

RENO — (AP) — Hundreds of winter sports fans were snowbound today in the high Rockies and Sierra Nevada by blizzards that killed at least one man.

Three men were reported missing, presumably trapped in snow slides.

Another was rescued after two hours under a snow avalanche.

Transcontinental highways were closed in the mountain passes of Colorado and along the California-Nevada state line.

Among the hundreds stranded in Sierra Nevada winter resorts were ex-New York Yankee star Joe DiMaggio, his divorced wife and their son. They were caught at Sky tavern on Mt. Rose, 20 miles southwest of Reno, along with 80 other skiers.

A dozen other Sierra Nevada winter resorts were isolated. None was in danger. Resorts reported guests enjoying their predicament with ample food, fuel, and drink.

In Colorado 500 persons, mostly skiers, were twice trapped by the winter storm. Snow plows reached them Sunday about 11,134 foot high Berthoud pass. But as the shivering caravan of 200 autos moved out, new slides roared across the roads and sealed the pass again.

A Colorado state highway patrol officer said a huge slide buried a truck carrying three men Sunday night. One was said to have escaped. The other two were reported missing. None was identified.

An avalanche in the Sierra Nevada near Echo Summit, 65 miles southwest of Reno, buried two California highway department workers, their truck and two snow plows. James Safford, 37, Camino, Calif., was killed. Frank Kerk, 28, was dug out alive. He suffered frostbite and severe bruises.

Post Card Rate, Parcel Size Changes In Effect

Effective with the new year the penny post card will cost two cents, and there also will be introduced certain limits in size and weight on parcel post packages.

Escanaba Postmaster Regina W. Cleary today said those are the only changes at the present time. There will be no increase in first, second or third class, or air mail postage rates.

The changes effective midnight tonight were fixed by an act of Congress "and the Post Office department has no authority to make any exceptions thereto," it is pointed out in a postal bulletin.

Post Card Rates
Briefly, the new rate and charges for post cards is as follows:

The post card will cost two cents. Persons with penny cards on hand can use them up by placing on them an additional one-cent stamp.

Cards purchased in quantities of less than 50 cards will cost two cents each; if purchased in quantities of 50 or more there will be a 10 per cent additional charge.

While no explanation accompanied the 10 per cent additional charge clause for 50 or more cards, it is generally understood to have been Congress' answer to the problem of limiting the use of cards for advertising purposes.

Parcel Post Packages

Changes in limits in size and weight of parcel post packages (not including air mail parcel post) apply only to parcels mailed at first class post offices and addressed to first class post offices.

Such parcels are limited to 72 inches in length and girth combined and to 40 pounds in weight if they are for delivery in the first and second postal zones; and to 20 pounds weight if for delivery beyond the second postal zone; providing such parcels are mailed at a first class post office and addressed to a first class post office.

Old dimensions and weight (100 inches and 70 pounds) apply to parcels mailed to a second, third, or fourth class post office.

Limit Package Mail
For example, old dimensions would apply to parcel post packages mailed at Escanaba and addressed to Gladstone, Bark River, or other post office not first class; but the new regulations on size and weight would apply if the parcel is addressed to Menominee or other first class post office.

The limitation placed on package delivery between post offices of the first class apparently is congress' attempt to discourage use of the mail for freight delivery.

It will mean that shippers must break up their shipment into smaller packages or use other available package freight services.

Since the regulation does not apply to packages addressed to second, third or fourth class post offices, persons receiving mail in the Delta county area other than through the Escanaba post office may get packages of larger dimension and weight.

C&H To Explore Caledonia Adit

Property Located Near Mass

CALUMET, Mich.—Exploratory mining operations have begun at the Calumet and Hecla Consolidated Copper company's Caledonia adit. The adit is located near Mass in Ontonagon county. Preparatory work including the installation of power lines, road repair, and rehabilitation of the property was completed recently.

According to company officials, a thorough investigation will be made in order to determine whether or not a production mining operation is possible. The company expects to mine about 200 tons of rock per day during the exploration period. This rock will be trucked to Lake Mine location and then transported via Copper Range Railroad to the company's mill in Hubbell. Mine operations are on a two shift basis with 20 men employed. The operation is under the direct supervision of Gerald G. Warrener who reports to C. A. Campbell, mine manager of the company's Calumet Division.

The Caledonia adit is located in one of the areas where copper was first mined in Michigan by white men. At its peak the district could boast of such famous mines as the Minnesota, Mass, Michigan and Adventure. The copper deposits in some of these mines were found in fissures, rather than in veins or lode formations. However, there are a number of known lodes in that district, among which is the so-called Evergreen series. The past history of the lodes indicates the copper deposit is spotty and discontinuous. The Caledonia adit is on the Knowlton lode, one of the most promising of the Evergreen series.

Calumet and Hecla did its first exploratory work in this area in 1937 on property then owned by the Mohawk Mining company. The work was done under an option which Calumet and Hecla surrendered after one year of exploration. The Caledonia adit was driven by Calumet and Hecla in 1937 and also in the early 1940's after the company had purchased the property upon the dissolution of the Mohawk Mining company.

Ford Plant At Iron Mt. Offered To Industries

A large portion of the former Ford Motor Co. plant at Iron Mountain, Mich., recently acquired by a group that included William and Arthur Grede of Grede Foundries, Inc., Milwaukee, will be offered for sale or lease.

E. M. Boerke, Milwaukee industrial realtor, announced that the new owners had placed the property on the market through his organization. Boerke, a vice-president of the Society of Industrial Realtors, said industrial realtors in various cities would be invited to co-operate in disposing of the facilities.

The availability of an adequate labor supply at Iron Mountain and adjoining Kingsford, as well as housing, make the property attractive to industries seeking quick expansion for war production, Boerke said. He called the property "one of the finest industrial plants I have ever seen."

Offer Station Wagon Plant

The Kingsford Chemical Co., of which William Grede is a director, is using the chemical plant and the carbonization plant where Ford manufactured charcoal. The portion to be offered for sale or lease includes the station wagon body plant, a group of one story buildings with a total of 465,000 square feet of floor space. Boerke said that the owners would offer an additional one story building with approximately 150,000 square feet of space, provided the tenant requires larger facilities.

May Divide Buildings
The plant, which represents an estimated Ford investment of 25 million dollars, is on a 240 acre tract between Iron Mountain and Kingsford. It has extensive rail trackage, a private airport and power and water facilities.

Boerke said the owners would consider dividing floor area in some of the buildings to expedite early employment of the large local labor supply.

Boerke said a brochure, describing the plant in detail and listing the advantages of the location, would be prepared for national circulation. It will be ready about Jan. 15.

The plant consists of 27 main buildings and eight smaller structures. The largest building contains 117,800 square feet of floor space and several contain from 115,000 to 60,000 feet. In general the buildings are in excellent condition, Boerke said. The last minor roof repairs were made in 1950.

The plant had peak wartime employment of 7,500 persons and was employing about 1,800 persons when Ford moved body manufacturing operations to Detroit.

Title to the property was transferred by Ford to the Kingsford Chemical Co. on Dec. 17. Martin Fenton, Wilmington, Del., is president.

Deer Herd Control To Be Discussed

Bold Thieves Steal Safe And $600 At Wells Store

Thieves struck the Wells Cash store at Wells sometime Saturday night, boldly rolled a 250-pound safe containing about $600 out the back door and made off with it.

The safe, broken open and empty, was found at 10:30 a. m. today alongside a road a short distance from the store. Snow covering it had melted, exposing the safe.

Lester Noel, proprietor of the store, said that about $225 of the total cash was the property of the Holy Name Society of St. Anthony's parish. Noel is treasurer of the Holy Name Society.

Besides the safe and cash, the loss included Noel's insurance policies and other papers, and some merchandise.

Avoid Post Office

The robbery was possibly the work of the same men who have burglarized a number of places in the Escanaba area since Dec. 3, according to sheriff's officers and Gladstone state police.

With the Wells Cash store, the total take by the gang is about $1,715.

The thieves avoided entering the Wells post office located in the Wells Cash store building. The post office is separated from the store by partitions. None of the postal receipts were in the grocery store safe.

Entry Through Window

Federal agents would have been drawn into the investigation if the post office had been entered.

A rear window of the Cash store was broken to gain entrance to the building. The back door was opened and the safe hauled from beneath the counter and dragged and rolled out to be carted away, probably in a truck.

No tracks were identified as those of the thieves on the hard-packed ice and snow at the back door.

The safe was about three or four years old and may have withstood the efforts of the safe crackers to open it in the building. Noel has operated the store for the past 10 years.

Fourteen Places Entered

The Wells Cash store robbery brings to a total of 14 the breaking and enterings in the Escanaba area since Dec. 3.

On Dec. 3 and 4 the U. S. Army, Gaffner's Automotive company, Bero's garage and Coleman's coal yard office were entered; on Dec. 5 the Northern Flour & Grain company was looted of $188 and Shepek Dimension company at Wells lost $130.

On Dec. 13 offices of four doctors in Escanaba were entered and the loss totaled $550.

On Dec. 21 the thieves made their biggest haul in three safe-cracking jobs in Escanaba. Threshel Distributing company lost $1,000 in cash; Phoenix Lumber company about $115; but a safe at Stegath Lumber company balked efforts of the thieves to open it.

An athletic department is operated at Santa Anita race track to provide recreation for the stable employees.

Delta's March Of Dimes Appeal Opens Wednesday

The annual appeal for funds to fight polio and assist the crippled and handicapped children of Delta county will open Wednesday, it is announced by Don Guindon, county campaign chairman for the Delta county chapter, National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

A total of 8,000 appeal letters will be mailed to residents of Escanaba, Gladstone and the townships. Earle Harris of Escanaba is secretary-treasurer of the Delta chapter.

Avowed purpose of the 1952 March of Dimes campaign is to put the fight against polio on a "pay as you go basis" after four successive years in which the National Foundation has gone into debt fighting the only epidemic disease still on the increase in America.

The March of Dimes drive organization in Delta county includes the following:

Atty. John Root, Escanaba chairman; Carl Benzinger, Industrial; Lawrence Viaw, organized labor; Atty. Claire Hoehn, Gladstone chairman; Mrs. John Lucke, Mother's March; Hagle Quamstrom, township schools; J. L. Heirman, townships; John A. Lemmer, city schools.

The committee stresses the role of all the people in the March of Dimes drive. There will be no house-to-house solicitation. Offers to help, and generous response to the appeal letters, are anticipated.

Besides helping finance the local costs of caring for polio cases and aiding the crippled and handicapped children, funds go to the National Foundation for the continuing program of research and service.

Ice Glazes All U. P. Highways

Hazard Is High For New Year's Eve

Drizzling rain that froze in striking the ground today covered all highways in the Upper Peninsula with a coating of ice, an additional hazard to the motorist bent on New Year's Eve holiday driving.

The state highway department today reported "glazed icy surface" in sections of the Lower Peninsula as well.

Law enforcement officers joined in the general warning for caution in driving during the New Year's holiday. Take it easy, drive carefully, speed can kill, go slow and live to see 1952, they warned.

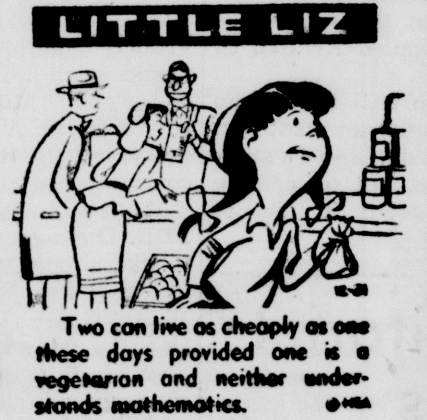

Coupled with the general comments for safe driving was the old standby—if you drink, don't drive; if you drive, don't drink—that is particularly appropriate for the New Year's Eve celebration.

Colder weather with some snow is in prospect for the Escanaba area, said S. E. Decker of the Escanaba office of the U. S. Weather Bureau. This will increase the driving and walking hazard on ice-slick roads and walks.

The rain today in the Upper Peninsula was another aspect of varied weather conditions prevailing in the U. S. as the old year comes to a close.

California and Arizona had heavy rains, three feet of new snow fell in Colorado, record high temperatures were recorded in Texas and Alabama—and Cutbank, Mont., reported 11 below.

1951 Bows Out Tonight; We Wish Everyone A Prosperous New Year

THE year 1951 passes into history tonight at midnight. It has been a tempestuous year for most Americans, a year of worries about many things. Higher taxes, inflation, the Korean war. The greatest worry of all, of course, was the fear of an outbreak of World War III.

Fortunately, despite our casualties in Korea, 1951 escaped all-out war. The United States and our friends of Western Europe are engaged in a rearmament program designed to remove the threat of aggression.

Can Churchill Pull Rabbit From Hat?

NEXT month, doughty old Winston Churchill will come to Washington on what may be a mission of historic significance. According to the best informed commentators, Mr. Churchill's driving purpose is to form a much closer Anglo-American partnership than has ever existed in the past, as a means of bringing Russia to terms, assuring a long period of world peace, and strengthening the shaky British economy.

This is a very large order indeed. It has been the goal of British and American statesmen ever since the last great war ended, and all of them have failed. The international situation has deteriorated with almost incredible speed. The Russians have made enormous gains at the expense of the West without firing a shot. The billions we sent to Britain under the Marshall plan served only as temporary palliatives—Mr. Churchill has inherited a new economic crisis which is every bit as bad as those which occurred before, and it is extremely unlikely that Congress will approve much more economic aid on similar terms. Mr. Churchill is the coxswain of a boat which is so leaky as to be in danger of sinking.

Yet, despite all these somber considerations, the return of Mr. Churchill to power has raised high hopes that he can pull a rabbit from the hat and achieve the near-impossible—precisely as he did during the black days of the war when England was next to defenseless and besieged by an enormously powerful enemy. Certainly, no one now living has Mr. Churchill's prestige or record of accomplishment under stress, and age has not dimmed his energy, his eloquence, or his will-to-do.

In the words of John Harriman of the North American Newspaper Alliance, Mr. Churchill believes that what the West needs "is the infusion of a new idea, a new concept into a military situation that is marking time in an economic situation that is actually deteriorating."

"Churchill is the one man to do this. He, and he alone, can put the naked facts of the cold war to the western world as he put the facts of World War II to the British people, in his famous speech offering blood, sweat and tears."

In his Washington meetings with President Truman and others, Mr. Churchill will deal with such controversial questions as our air bases in Britain, the command of the North Atlantic and Mediterranean fleets, and so on. These are important matters and they must be settled. But they are details. There is reason to believe that Mr. Churchill has in mind some grand plan for handling the Russian menace. As Intelligence Digest has put it, "He is bent upon making the supreme effort of his career to avert a third war." And it is clear that he believes he can do it.

In working toward this great goal, Mr. Churchill is aided by a cabinet of extraordinary quality. Anthony Eden, Lord Woolton, and other top deputies are all men of the highest integrity and ability, and their knowledge of world problems is probably unmatched anywhere. The Labor government has none to compare with them on these scores. The British government of Mr. Churchill is a very different thing from that of Mr. Attlee.

Gordon Martin's Rhyme

THE SURGEON

I am sure we don't appreciate the surgeon and his skill, till a loved one, of a sudden, will become so deathly ill, that a surgeon's hands must hold the fate of husband, child or wife, and that in his agile fingers he must hold the gift of life. Then we say a heartfelt prayer to Him who watches from above, and we trust the man with skillful hands to save the one we love.

I have kept the lengthy vigil, and I know that you have too, while awaiting word from men in white with urgent job to do. And I've never been so grateful for the words that came at last: "She'll get well, my friend, so get some rest, the crisis now is past." So I think that's not in all the world a pair of hands so fine, as the hands God gave a surgeon bringing health to yours and mine.

Merry-Go-Round

(Editor's Note—The following column in Drew Pearson's series on tax-pulling and government corruption deals with influence inside the Roosevelt administration.)

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—It has frequently been possible, both in Republican and Democratic administrations, to escape tax-fraud prosecution if you are important enough and if you know the right people. The administration has gone in for tax-fixing on a much broader and lower scale. Even unimportant people now can get their taxes fixed.

Several years ago, when Justice Tom Clark was attorney general, he was informed by his U. S. attorney in Los Angeles, Charles H. Carr, that Charlie Chaplin, the famed comedian, had a sealed income-tax indictment hanging over his head ever since the Harding administration. It had been kept secret and had not been prosecuted.

Why the Republicans indicted but failed to prosecute is not known. Carr did not prosecute either and later left the U. S. attorney's office to become president of the Del Mar race track owned in part by Joe Schenck president of 20th Century-Fox.

Carr while U. S. attorney, had been given the job of investigating Schenck and certain other movie moguls. And though Schenck eventually was convicted in New York, Carr later wound up working for Schenck in Los Angeles. The other movie moguls were not prosecuted—why, nobody knows.

It sometimes happens that cases against men with influence lie dormant for years—sometimes until the statute of limitations expires. For instance, an FBI report on the bribe-taking of U. S. Court of Appeals Judge Martin T. Manton, gathered dust in the Justice department—until forthright Frank Murphy became attorney general. He dusted off the files and sent Judge Manton to jail.

FDR's RECORD

Incidentally, Joe Numan, clerk to Judge Manton, and later Bob Hannegan's commissioner of internal revenue, bobs up from time to time in the background of the current congressional tax probe.

Frank Murphy's record in the Justice department illustrates what President Truman could do if he appointed a courageous, crusading attorney general such as Francis Biddle or Estes Kefauver. He would need no corruption committee or Judge Tom Murphy if he made this one simple move. A forthright attorney general makes all the difference when it comes to corruption in government.

It also illustrates what happened under FDR. During the Roosevelt administration it was almost impossible to fix a tax case unless it was done right at the top—in the White House. In the Truman administration the opposite is true. While Mr. Truman himself would never fix a case, cases are fixed all over the place and by all sorts of people. But under Roosevelt nobody could get by eagle-eyed Henry Morgenthau or crusading Frank Murphy with a fix except FDR.

Some of the most important cases Roosevelt took a hand in involved Boss Frank McHale, Democratic national committeeman from Indiana, Brown and Root, the Texas contractors who backed Lyndon Johnson, and Andrew Jackson Higgins, the Louisiana boat builder.

"2ND LOUISIANA PURCHASE" There was also the "second Louisiana purchase"—when prosecution of certain top politicians was stopped dead in its tracks by a phone call from the White House.

This occurred in 1940, after graft exposures by the Washington Merry-Go-Round caused Attorney General Frank Murphy to prosecute Louisiana's Gov. Dick Leche, Democratic National Committeeman Seymour Weiss, President of Louisiana State College College J. Monroe Smith, Abe Shushan and various others.

Murphy, who loved to prosecute like a hound dog likes to chase rabbits, was in full chase and determined to draw blood, when something happened.

I first heard about it from the foreman of a grand jury in New Orleans who told how John Rogge, assistant attorney general in charge of the Justice department's criminal division, was summoned from the jury room by a phone call from Washington. The jury was considering a hot oil conspiracy case between Mayor Robert Maestri of New Orleans and the late Bill Helis, otherwise known as the Golden Greek, and a partner of Frankie Costello.

When he came back from that Washington phone call, Rogge told the grand jury that their work was over.

Curious, I asked Frank Murphy what had happened. He admitted that he had called Rogge and instructed him to drop the case. He had done this regretfully, he said, on orders from the White House. The president needed the support of the Louisiana delegation to be renominated in Chicago.

Thus was consummated the "second Louisiana purchase."

Into The Past

10 YEARS AGO

Manila—The Japanese invaders were driving with great force on Manila from both the south and the north but some opposition was causing them to revise their predicted date of capture of the city from Jan. 1 to Jan. 10.

Washington, D. C.—War expenditures at a rate of $50 million annually by the middle of 1943 was predicted by President Roosevelt as the goal of American industrial and military effort.

Escanaba—Fast, modern, streamlined rail service between Escanaba and Chicago was on the way as C&NW officials announced that its new diesel "400" train would begin to service Escanaba and points north of here on Jan. 12.

20 YEARS AGO

Mukden, Manchuria—Japanese troops removed all opposition on two fronts and were in a position to celebrate New Year's Day, Japan's favorite holiday, by occupying Chinchow, one of the last fortresses against Japanese control of Manchuria.

Detroit—Mayor Frank Murphy announced that he would go to Washington Jan. 7 to ask a Senate committee for federal relief for states and counties.

TO THE NEW YEAR

By Elsie Karlin

We cannot tell with certainty
The course that you should steer;
But make our trip around the sun
A happy one this year.

Guide us so we see the moon
And stars along the way.
Follow paths that hold for us
Some sunlight every day.

Lead us quickly through the clouds
And storms that block our view
Then let us linger to enjoy
A rainbow's lovely hue.

Time, you have so much to spend
We have but little here.
So make our trip around the sun
A happy one this year.

Hope For Peace, Other Advances, Made 1951 Not A Really Bad Year

By RICHARD KLEINER

NEA Staff Correspondent

As the horns blow and the bells ring to welcome 1952, the chances are that at least one person at every New Year's Eve party will propose the following toast: "Good riddance to 1951!"

And the other guests will chorus their agreement with the general estimation that 1951 was, as years go, a lousy one.

But, viewing 1951 objectively, it wasn't any worse than most. The unpleasant happenings were only gloomy polka-dots against a fabric of faith and hope and optimism. There were many good things, in 1951.

The brightest event was the opening of cease-fire talks in Korea. Progress was painfully slow and once came to a full stop—but there was progress. To many people, the best part of the whole deal was that the Communists were the ones to suggest the talks, a development that caused some to look at the future hopefully.

And there was hope of peace on an even broader scale, too. There was talk about disarmament conferences and, although nothing concrete has come of this as yet, the mere words "peace" and "disarmament" made cheerful listening. Perhaps 1951 may prove to have been the turning point on the road so many said led to an inevitable World War III.

There was heartening news from Europe, the world's ideological battleground. The Communists lost ground in the French elections. Yugoslavia continued its resistance to the dictates of Moscow, and there were whispers of an upswing of anti-Moscow feeling in Poland and Czechoslovakia.

That the people behind the Iron Curtain were not all happy with their lot was obvious. Americans cheered when two brave Czech railroad men stole a train and sped down the tracks to freedom.

The UN forces in Korea contributed much to the credit side of 1951's ledger. They repulsed two savage Communist offensives and made the words "Iron Triangle" and "Heartbreak Ridge" synonymous with the best in military tradition. In Indo-China, the French more than held their own against the Communists on another of freedom's frontiers.

Elsewhere in the world, the possibility of better days ahead was seen in two nations living under non-democratic regimes. A short, abortive revolt in Argentina showed there might be hope of ousting dictator Juan Peron. And a movement of war veterans developed in South Africa against the discriminatory edicts of Premier Daniel Malan.

In the U. S., the Armed Forces began production of atomic-powered planes and submarines. So far, use of atomic power is being restricted to these military and naval devices, yet the mere fact that such a tremendous source of energy was being harnessed by man was exciting. The day was not too far off when power from the atom and/or the sun might replace the conventional fuels we know today.

The scientists and engineers were busy in other fields, too. They launched the 51,500-ton liner United States which, when it goes into service next summer, will be the third largest in the world.

They opened the way for cheap and plentiful production of the drug, cortisone. They produced a new pain-killing drug, dromoran, which, unlike morphine, is not derived from opium.

And the "green medicine"—chlorophyll—which most people had only heard about a year ago, was on the market in quantity. This material is a natural deodorant, and gives promise of giving us a world wherein nobody smells.

In the arts, there was pleasant activity. We sang songs like "Tennessee Waltz" and "Come on a My House" and "The Thing." And we listened while performers who had been virtually unknown a year ago zoomed into the spotlight. People like Patti Page and Mario Lanza and Dolores Gray.

There was the Price War, which started in New York and spread to other cities. It left us tired and broke, but we'd had fun and gotten some bargains.

There was MacArthur's return, which gave us a chance to cheer and welcome home a hero. We had parades such as we hadn't had since the end of the war. And there followed a debate which was exciting, no matter which side you were on.

And there was the National League pennant race, which made everybody forget their troubles. It brought Frank Merriwellish fame to Bobby Thomson and deep, abiding gloom to the borough of Brooklyn.

There was Bill Vecek, who sent a midget up to pinch hit for the St. Louis Browns. There was a no-account horse named Count Turf who won the Kentucky Derby at 15-1. There was Maureen Connolly, a little 16-year-old who won the top U. S. women's tennis crown.

There was Florence Chadwick, who swam the English Channel the hard way, and Bernarr Macfadden, who parachuted into the Hudson River at 83, and Dick Kazmaier and King Baudouin and Mike DiSalle and Robert Vogeler and Virginia Hill and Greasy Thumb Guzik and Rudolph Halley and King Frederick of Denmark who posed in all his tattooed glory.

And there was the quote of the year. It was said by a shapely show girl named Rosemary Williamson. A salesman had been showering her with gifts and it turned out he'd gotten the money for her by swindling.

"I never knew he was in an illegal business," said Rosemary. "He told me he was a gambler."

Moonlight Beauty

The Indians called January the "Snow Month" and over a period of years it is probably true that more snow falls in the first month than in any other. Once in a decade, perhaps, the full of the moon comes with a crystal-clear atmosphere and a below-zero temperature. The countryman is not a scientific meteorologist; he does not pretend to understand the laws of light. But one does not need a technical background to know that moonlight, snow and cold combine to paint one of Year's most glorious pictures.

Beneath the snow is frozen humus, brown grass and millions of seeds waiting for time to pass while overhead the winter stars glow like miniature jewels. Moonlight beauty from a hilltop is different from the loveliness when one stands in a meadow or lowland field. From the height, a panorama extends in all directions. Distant mountains are dark against the horizon; the village is a cluster of white houses beneath feathery trees; the church spire is a pointed, silver finger. The line of lights along the street reminds one of a gold necklace on an invisible string. Cars along the valley road below write golden sentences in the pewter-gray light of the moon.

A man alone on a hilltop has no sense of loneliness. He feels humble in the midst of ten times ten thousand solar systems and wonders about the space around his Earth—space reckoned in billions of miles. It is a pleasant world—a peaceful world—a world above and beyond the confused society of which he is a part. On a moonlit winter night one can feel the order and naturalness of a realm profoundly intricate and yet fundamentally simple. Man will eventually learn to live in accord with Nature's law; one day he will see the senselessness of wars and strife. There are only a few ways in which man can refill the drained reservoirs of heart and mind. On a January night when the moon is near the full and the land is covered with snow, he can drink from an eternal spring that will never fail.

For centuries, our worth and weight has been identical with that of the French army. We cannot, we must not lose our army.—Gen. Charles de Gaulle, of France, on the Plevan plan.

We are not musical archaeologists. We do not simply broadcast Purcell and Monteverdi, but also Beethoven and Mozart.—Harman Grisewood, chief of Britain's cultured Third Programme.

Good Evening...

By CLINT DUNATHAN

CLOSING THE YEAR—If you are on the sunny side of life the ringing out of the old year is a joyous occasion; if you are on the shady side of life's span there is hesitation in facing into the new year with its unknown future.

For all of us, 1951 was another year of experience in the business of living. It was not wasted, despite the besetting pessimism of the times.

Many of us, for example, approach this New Year's Eve with neither a longing to discard the old year memory, nor the wish that the new year will be differently now and exciting.

A bit of normalcy (that dear old standby phrase signifying so much and meaning so little) would do the whole world good.

OPENING THE NEW—The United States has arrived at the middle age period in its development when the status quo is most important and change is beginning to be uncomfortable.

The average American, coming through the troubled days of 1951, is looking forward to the hope of peace and quiet.

The desire is for undisturbed contentment—a rare condition shared by those who have come to the conclusion that life is primarily concerned with living and enjoying the fleeting moments, minutes and hours and days.

This is convincing proof that we have arrived at a somewhat philosophical middle age.

Americans do not want to open a new and exciting year. They would like an uneventful and unexciting period, a lull in the hurrying course of human history.

WITHOUT RESOLUTIONS—Middle age is a comfortable condition of the mind rather than a particular number of years.

Comprising this group are millions of Americans whose principal ambition is to hold tight to the tail of whirling events of 1952. If they can hang on during the coming year they will feel a sense of accomplishment.

They hope for nothing more in the coming year than to be able to keep their taxes paid. They do not want to face into new and exciting challenges.

So far in the battle of life they have lost only a little hair and gained only a few pounds around the middle.

With the new year at hand they feel no desire to voice good resolutions, fare forth looking for dragons to slay, or bother their heads with current events.

In this wishfully happy vacuum of mind they are in no mood for New Year's resolutions. They would rather sit back on their laurels and let someone else do the worrying.

EVER CHANGING—Unfortunately for this group the pace in 1952 may be still more exhausting.

The war in Korea is definitely unfinished business; universal military training and the national preparedness program are on the agenda; inflation, labor troubles, floods, tornadoes, discussions in the United Nations and other acts of man and God will not be ignored.

There will be many important decisions to be made by the people in 1952 on the local, national and international levels. It is no time for pessimism or half-hearted support of honesty and justice.

THE MOOD AND MASTER—The mood of near-isolationism recurrent in the country is dangerous.

It is a mood that can, given a leader filled with false promises, turn the nation from the path of hard obligation and responsibility to one of selfishness and negation.

What Americans need in this coming year is a rousing up, a throwing back of the shoulders, and a will to live peacefully if they can, forcefully if they must.

Your new year may not be a happy one. But it will be exciting. Stick around and see it through.

Power With Words

By Dr. C. E. Funk

A WORD FROM AN OLD ROMANCE

We have many words in our language in which the curious story of origin reads like a fairy tale. Take the word "tawdry." We apply it to finery or ornamentation that has no lasting quality; cheaply elegant; showily and briefly ornamental.

The story of its origin takes us back to an English princess of the seventh century, named Etheldreda, a name altered to Audrey in Norman speech. At an early age she was given in marriage to a neighboring king against her wishes, and fled from him at the first opportunity to the Island of Ely, a few miles north of Cambridge. Here she established a religious house, of which she became the abbess, and here, in 679, she died and was buried.

An account some sixty years later said that her death resulted from a growth in her throat, a growth that, according to Audrey herself, was in punishment for a vain fondness in her youth for wearing exquisite necklaces.

Many years later the monastery became the Cathedral of Ely. A town grew up around it, and annual fairs were held upon the day, October 17, sacred to St. Audrey. "Trifling objects," so called in old records, were sold at this fair, especially those objects that commemorated St. Audrey.

One of the popular souvenirs was, naturally, a piece of ribbon or band of lace to be worn by women round the neck. And this adornment became even more popular when, in the middle of the sixteenth century, a noted preacher drew attention to it and repeated the story of St. Audrey's girlhood vanity.

Thereafter everyone who went to the fair at Ely was beset by hucksters crying, "St. Audrey's lace; St. Audrey's lace." And, naturally enough, both price and quality of the ribbon began to grow less as the cry of the merchants became less distinct. "Saint Audrey's lace" became "Sin Audrey's lace," and by the time it had become "Tawdry lace," the ribbon might last no longer than until the wearer reached home.

By trial and error or scientific fact

Among ancient drugs in popular use were excreta of swine, powdered horn of deer, flyspecks, and toads. Although these were somewhat repulsive and of very doubtful value, great faith was placed in their curative powers. A review of the drugs in use today would disclose many similar animal products and tissues. Examples are pituitary extract, thyroid, liver, adrenaline, insulin from the pancreas, and estrone from the urine of pregnant mares. When processed and dispensed for use, they have little resemblance to their original state. In medicine and pharmacy, trial and error is a thing of the past. The use of drugs is in strict accordance with scientific fact.

Glove Training Now Underway

15 Report For Ring Workouts

Fifteen Manistique boxers are training for the Escanaba Golden Gloves event on Jan. 25 and 26 at the gymnasium by Edward Toyra, local trainer.

Temporarily they are using the basement of St. Francis de Sales school as training quarters, with sessions slated for 7:30 each evening and 2 p. m. Sundays.

Training was suspended today and no workouts will be held tomorrow. Sessions will be resumed, however, at 7:30 Wednesday night.

In addition to several veterans previously announced, Bob Minor also is back getting in shape for the Golden Gloves tournament, Toyra reported. Minor, a heavy hitting, aggressive fighter, will enter the lightweight class of the open division this year. In order to build well-balanced group for the Escanaba show, Toyra needs more entries in the 118 pound, 124 pound and 165 pound and up classes. Young men desiring to box may contact Toyra or report at one of the training sessions.

In This Corner

With Ray Crandall

The Escanaba sports picture in 1951 was a happy and healthy one for spectators and players. The year brought championships, outstanding individual and team performances, state and Upper Peninsula honors and heartaches and heartbreaks as well. New sports were introduced to players and spectators while familiar sports activities flourished in most cases. Without intent to cover the year's activities in detail, we would like to glance back at a few of the outstanding incidents.

Baseball had its most successful season in the history of the sport. League championships were won by three Escanaba teams last season. At the top of the heap were the Escanaba Bears under the management of Phil Brasseur. Entering Tri County league competition for the first time, the Bears walked off with two crowns at the end of season play. They swept to championships in both halves of the schedule with a record of 18 wins and three losses. And they tucked away the playoff title with a 1-0 win over Hermansville. Among other accomplishments, the team sent its star pitcher, Rusty "No-Hit" Hiltunen, to the Oshkosh Giants of the Wisconsin State League.

On the high school scene, Coach Jim Rouman's Escanaba nine swept through an undefeated seven-game schedule. In defeating St. Joseph, Marquette, Iron Mountain, Ishpeming, Negaunee (two were double wins) the Eskys held all opponents to 10 runs. Pitcher Jack Chriske tossed a no-hit, no-run game against Negaunee to highlight the season.

Al Ness piloted the Escanaba Cubs to their fourth straight championship of the Waubesa league with an undefeated 10-game schedule. The Cubs stretched their league winning streak to 40 straight games. The Cubs climaxed the season by capturing the 11th district American Legion Junior baseball championship at Gladstone. Southpaw Fred Boddy joined the no-hit, no-run select circle in the tournament with a 6-0 win over Gladstone.

Little League baseball made its first appearance here in 1951. Sponsored by four service organizations, the Lions, Kiwanis, St. Joe Boosters and Rotary, the league experienced a successful debut with St. Joe winning the city championship under the guidance of Milt "Mac" McComber. The Little League all-stars provided a perfect cap to the season by winning the state championship at Midland. Another pitcher, Gary Pater, made no-hit, no-run headlines in the state tourney and in all pitched five such games during the summer. Champions of the city recreational league for youngsters were St. Ann's and Breitenbach.

In the nearby Bay de Noc league the Manistique Cardinals captured the regular season crown and lost the playoff championship to Trenary. In league play the Cards suffered only two losses in 12 games. The year saw Escanaba's Dick Lough performing for Big Stone Gap team in Virginia and Nahma's Billy Schafer signing a contract in the Milwaukee Brewers organization.

Escanaba golfers had a wet but enthusiastic season. Ruth Needham won the Escanaba Club woman's championship and Dorothy Anderson captured the Highland Club woman's title in tournaments that were handicapped by rain. Dorothy Coulter took top honors in the Gladstone Club woman's tourney and Walter VanDeWeghe won the men's crown at Gladstone. Harry Hogan and Dr. Francis Smith were champions of the Escanaba and Highland clubs. Highland was awarded the 1952 Upper Peninsula Golf association tournament. Joe Poffenberger registered the season's first hole-in-one at the Escanaba course on July 19. In high school circles, Coach Jack Magnusson's Eskymos computed the runnerup trophy in the U. P. tournament at Iron Mountain. St. Joe finished third in class C.

Escanabans taking titles in the 1951 Upper Peninsula-Northern Wisconsin tennis tournament held here were Tom Fisher, Doris Nolden, Dick Danielson and Harold Cloutier.

Softball activity continued at a strong pace. American, National and Oldtimer leagues ran through a busy schedule with St. Thomas teams winning in the latter two circuits. The American league wound up in a three way tie for first place. Tim & Sally's took the city girls' tournament championship and Kipling won in Gladstone's men's league. The district tournament produced two Escanaba champions, Harnischfeger in class A and Light & Power in class B. Stonington took the C title. Highlight of the season was the appearance of the sensational pitcher, Eddie Feigner, of the King and His Court at Memorial field. Cliff Beaudin Jr. was elected president of the league for 1952.

Big league hockey struck the local sports scene last winter and is off to a new season in 1952. The Escanaba Hawks abandoned the Upper Peninsula Amateur circuit for faster company in the Northern Michigan-Wisconsin league. The Hawks made a tremendous hit with sports fans and handled themselves well in the big league. They finished third in the final standings last winter and are shooting for a crown in the current campaign.

Back to high school circles again. The Escanaba Eskymos uncovered a new record-maker in John Prokos. The wiry Escanaba athlete scaled 11 feet, seven inches to write his name in the Upper Peninsula track and field pole vaulting record book in the U. P. week meet held here in May.

King football took over the sports headlines in Escanaba this fall, and wrote some fabulous records into the books. Escanaba high school climaxed a successful season by landing two players on the All-Upper Peninsula Sportswriters association first team. Casper Bartley, fullback, drew a backfield berth and Paul Gunderman, named the outstanding lineman of the year, was placed at an end position to give Coach Jim Rouman's Eskymos fine recognition.

St. Joseph Parochial school enjoyed its most successful football season in the memory of grid fans. Paced by a phenomenal halfback, Pete Kutches, Coach Tom St. Germain's Trojans lost their two opening games and then swept through the remaining six games on the schedule without another defeat. Kutches was honored as a first team back on the All-U. P. and all-state class C grid teams. He gained over 1,000 yards in the season and had one of the best per-carry averages in the state. Gunderman of Escanaba high also made all-state selections. Don Timmler, Coach Don Pfothner's Gladstone tackle, also drew a berth on the all-U. P. and all-state teams.

Basketball hit the sports scene last month and is off to a rousing start for 1952. With Kutches again in a starring role, the St. Joe Trojans have whipped undefeated through six games to date and climaxed 1951 by winning the U. P. Parochial school tournament at Marquette last week. Kutches is melting the hoop with a 30-point-per-game scoring pace and the Trojans have racked up a total of 429 points. Coach Steve Baltic's Eskymos are off to a winning start with victories in three of their first four games.

Big Ten Title Contenders Open Action-Packed Week; Start League Play Saturday

CHICAGO—(AP)—Illinois will risk its perfect record against upset-minded Marquette tonight to open an action-packed Big Ten basketball week climaxed Saturday by the start of the title race. Against the Hilltoppers (4-5), the Illini will be pointing for their seventh straight victory in the second half of a doubleheader in Milwaukee Arena. Minnesota (4-3) faces Arizona in the first game of the New Year's Eve affair.

With Illinois highly favored to defeat Marquette, prospects are good for three teams, and possibly four, to open conference championship firing Saturday with undefeated records through the month-long preliminary campaign.

East All-Stars Jelled As Team

SAN FRANCISCO—(AP)—The Eastern All-Stars jelled quickly into a well coordinated team. The West presented an array of stars that didn't. That's the story of the East's narrow but convincing 15-14 victory in the annual game Saturday.

The net to the Shriners' Crippled Children's hospital here won't be reported for several days. But it's certain to exceed $100,000, as it has annually in recent years from capacity crowds of 62,000.

Outstanding Players
Ohio State's Vic (For Victory) undoubtedly Janowicz stole the show and was voted outstanding player among the 50 on the field. Sports writers and sports casters gave him 24 votes; Michigan State's Al Dorow seven, Princeton's Dick Kazmaier five and California's linebacker Les Richer two.

Janowicz started the East scoring with a field goal from the 32-yard line. He helped power a second quarter drive climaxed by a 20-yard touchdown pass from Kazmaier to Dorow. He tallied the winning touchdown on a two yard line buck in the third period. He did all of the East's kicking off and punting. He had a perfect passing record, one for one, good for seven yards. And he gained 79 of the East's 123 yards on the ground, averaging 3.04. His four punts averaged 38.3 yards.

It was a great climax to a collegiate career that saw him All-America in 1950. He goes into the Army Jan. 15.

Ed Stewart Eleventh White Sox To Sign

CHICAGO—(AP)—Ed Stewart, 35-year-old outfielder for the Chicago White Sox, has signed his 1952 contract bringing to 11 the number of players signed by the club for next season.

title contenders with Illinois, each have seven wins and do not play until Saturday.

Michigan State, the fourth unbeaten outfit, may have a difficult time against Notre Dame at South Bend Wednesday. It will be the Spartans' biggest test of the season after six consecutive victories.

The Irish have lost only once in eight starts, 67-54 to Indiana in the Butler tournament last Friday and romped over Purdue 64-50 Saturday.

Big Ten competition Saturday sends Illinois to Minnesota, Michigan to Indiana, Iowa to Michigan State, Ohio State to Northwestern and Purdue to Wisconsin.

In other games this week, Northwestern (2-3) is at Oregon State and Bowling Green plays at Loyola of Chicago tonight; Princeton at Michigan (2-4) and Washington and Lee at Bradley tomorrow; Detroit at Marquette Wednesday.

Games This Week

Arizona at Bradley Thursday; DePaul at Oklahoma Aggies Friday; Bradley at Drake, Loyola of Chicago at Marquette and Notre Dame at Louisville Saturday.

Indiana, led by Freshman Don Schlundt's 19 points and 17 by Bob Leonard, blasted Butler 87-71 Saturday to win the Butler holiday doubleheader title for the third straight year. The Hoosiers' 87 total was the highest ever made in five years of the meet.

Keith Stackhouse scored four points in the final minutes at East Lansing to assure Michigan State a 52-46 win over Princeton. The Spartans were barely ahead 44-42 with five minutes left.

On the same East Lansing program, Minnesota trounced Dartmouth 75-62 with Chuck Mencil's 24 points for the Gophers setting a record in the three-year-old round-robin holiday competition.

Buckeyes Lose
At Seattle's doubleheader, Ohio State and Northwestern both lost. Washington's powerful Huskies trimmed Northwestern 83-60 by a second half burst. Northwestern hit 45 per cent of its shots to take a 37-35 halftime lead, then folded when Captain Bernie Brady fouled out in the third period.

Washington State downed Ohio State 62-54, holding the Buckeyes' scoring ace, Paul Ebert, to 11 points. So far, Big Ten teams have won 45 games and lost 20 for .692 against non-league opponents. The all-game standings:

St. Joe Trojans Take Cage Holiday Until Next Monday

St. Joe cagers, home from the Upper Peninsula Parochial school tournament at Marquette with the Monsignor Henry A. Buchholz Memorial trophy in permanent possession, take a well-earned rest until Jan. 7.

Coach Tom St. Germain announced this morning that the Trojans, who are idle until Jan. 12 when they play a home game against Gladstone, will begin practice again next Monday afternoon. St. Joe is undefeated in six starts this season.

Two Western Grid Independents Out Of Football Scene

LOS ANGELES (AP)—For financial reasons, two of the West's major independents—University of San Francisco and Loyola of Los Angeles—have abandoned football indefinitely.

By prior agreement, the announcements came simultaneously yesterday and brought to 36 the number of schools which have cancelled their football programs since the 1950 season.

USF, unbeaten and untied this year behind the running of All-America fullback Ollie Matson, decided it was "financially imprudent" to continue the sport in the face of world conditions and high operating costs.

$100,000 A Year
Loyola, for whom Quarterback Don Klosterman set a national passing record, revealed that football has been costing the school upwards of $100,000 a year since 1946.

Both Matson and Klosterman were standout performers in last Saturday's Shrine East-West game in San Francisco.

Although Loyola won only three of its nine games, its decision came as more of a surprise than San Francisco's, which had been in the wind since head coach Joe Kuharich quit to seek employment with a pro team.

Escanaba Hawks Lose By 10-8 To Champion Portage Lake Sextet

HOUGHTON—(Special)—Making their second straight appearance of the young hockey season away from home, the Escanaba Hawks were defeated 10-8, by the powerful Portage Lake Pioneers, champion of the 1950-51 season, before 862 fans in big Dee Stadium here yesterday afternoon.

Copper Country fans left the rink convinced of two things—(1) That the triple Bukovich-powered Pioneers are as potent as ever and (2) that the Escanaba Hawks have a very strong team in the making that will rank right with the Copper Country powerhouses after a few more practices.

They saw the Escanabans bounce back from a 4-1 deficit after the first period and an 8-1 margin midway in the second session to close Portage Lake's victory to two goals before the final bell.

"It took us a while to get going, but once we got our stride we were right in there," Coach Mark Olson of the Hawks said after the game. "We outscored them 4-2 the last period. A few more practices and we'll be in there."

FIRST HOME GAME

The Escanaba Hawks, who have dropped two close matches to Marquette and Portage Lake to date, will play their first home game of the season at 8:15 Wednesday night against the Marquette Sentinels.

Portage Lake's power line of Tony and Joe Bukovich and a young comer, Taddeucci, produced five goals and brother Mike Bukovich on defense racked up two goals and three assists.

With the Bucko-boys in high gear at the outset, the home sextet jumped into an early lead that stood at 8-1 before Joe Ricci scored at 9:10 of the second period to start Escanaba on the long road back. Guy Peco, lightest but fightin'est of the Hawks got his second goal to make it 8-3 and Mark Olson worked in close for a tally that put the visitors back in the game.

John Cortopassi, Ricci, Mark Olson and Burt Pataja rang up goals for Escanaba in the fast third period, but the Portage Lake's early margin proved too much to overcome.

Jerry Tagliabracchi, burly transport from Eagle River, was a big help to Escanaba on defense, but because of lack of practice he too was not at his best yesterday. The workout in Escanaba last Friday night was his first time on ice this season.

Escanaba's nucleus of five former Michigan Tech players gives the Hawks the makings of a team that will get steadily stronger as the season progresses—was the consensus of Copper Country fans who saw this spirited game yesterday.

The Hawks returned to Escanaba last night to be met by unseasonably mild weather that has

Sports Spotlight On Bowl Games Tomorrow

NEW YORK—(AP)—College football may be in the process of de-emphasis, but not for some 435,000 fortunate, pigskin fans scattered from Florida to California who'll jam into the New Year's Day Bowl battles tomorrow.

For the four major Jan 1 Bowls, it will be football as usual, and try to get a ticket if you haven't got one as the customers stream in to see:

The Bowls

Illinois and Stanford in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena.
Tennessee, voted the Nation's No. 1 college team of 1951, versus Maryland in the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans.

Georgia Tech versus Baylor a couple of tough Southeastern and Southwest conference outfalls, in Miami's Orange Bowl.

And, Kentucky against Texas Christian, the Cotton Bowl dish at Dallas.
Plenty of gridiron power is represented. Of the eight teams, six landed in the top 10 of the final Associated Press poll of the season. After Tennessee, came Maryland, No. 3; Illinois, No. 4; Georgia Tech, No. 5; Stanford, No. 7, and Baylor, No. 9. T. C. U. was No. 11, and Kentucky, No. 15.

Largest Drawer

The day's biggest crowd, around 100,000, is expected for the Rose Bowl, where the Big 10 champion meets the Pacific Coast conference winner for the sixth straight year. Illinois remains a six and one-half point favorite to continue the Big 10 domination over the coast teams, which have lost five in a row since the two loops made the Bowl pact. Ohio State tied Illinois, and only California beat Stanford in the 1951 season.

Rain has soaked the Los Angeles area, and officials are hoping for clear skies for tomorrow.
In 1947 the last time Illinois played at Pasadena, it won 45-14 over UCLA.

The Rose Bowl game will be televised nationally.
New Orleans reports rain is possible for the clash between Coach Bob Neyland's Tennessee Vols, and Maryland's Terps coached by Jim Tatum. But even rain won't keep 85,000 out of the Sugar Bowl, the only Bowl boasting two unbeaten and untied elevens.

Tennessee is favored by seven points, but visiting coaches are about 50-50 in their opinions on the final outcome.
Weather Forecast
In its last Sugar Bowl appearance, Tennessee whipped Tulsa, 14-7, in 1943. Last Jan. 1, Tennessee beat Texas, 20-14, in the Cotton Bowl.

The weatherman in Miami forecasted partly cloudy and mild for the battle between Baylor and Georgia Tech, to be seen by 65,000. The pre-makers here set the odds at 6 to 5 and take your pick—Baylor which lost only to Texas Christian and tied Texas A&M, or Georgia Tech, unbeaten but tied by Duke.
In 1948 Georgia Tech defeated Kansas, 20-14, in the Orange Bowl.

Good weather and the same odds, 6-5 and take your pick, rule for the Cotton Bowl affair between Kentucky and Texas Christian—both beaten four times during the season. Kansas, Texas Tech, Southern Calif., and Texas defeated T. C. U., while Kentucky bowed to Texas, Mississippi, Georgia Tech and Tennessee. However, the game's a 75,349 sell-out.

Clemson and Miami (Fla.) renew their New Year's rivalry in the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla., before 38,500. Last year Clemson eked out a 15-14 win over Miami in the Orange Bowl.
Sun Bowl
College of the Pacific and Texas Tech, each with a record of six victories and four defeats, play before 14,000 in the Sun Bowl at El Paso, Tex.

Houston, with a 5-5 mark in 10 games, meets Dayton, tied twice in nine tilts, in the Salad Bowl at Phoenix, Ariz., where 21,000 are expected.

In other Bowls:
Arkansas State meets Stetson in the Tangerine Bowl at Orlando, Fla.; San Angelo (Tex.) College plays Hinds (Miss.) in the Galveston, Tex., Oleander Bowl; Texas College and Bethune-Cookman Junior College play in the Steel Bowl at Birmingham, Ala.; and Prairie View College and Arkansas A. M. & N. meet in the Prairie View (Tex.) Bowl.

East Posts Win

In two other traditional Bowl games Saturday, the East edged out the favored West in the Shrine charity game at San Francisco, 15-14, and the Gray All-Stars turned back the Blue at Montgomery, Ala., 20-14.
A sellout throng of 60,000 saw Vic Janowicz of Ohio State, Dick Kazmaier of Princeton and Al Dorow of Michigan State lead the East to its victory in Kezar stadium. Janowicz opened the scoring with 32-yard first period field goal, and scored a touchdown in the third period. Kazmaier passed to Dorow for a second period score.

Frank Gifford of Southern California scored from the one for the West in the third period, and late in the game Glenn Lippman of Texas A & M raced 52 yards for the final West tally.

Fred Benners, Southern Methodist passing ace, sparked the Gray squad into scoring position three times, before 22,000, as the Southern stars came from behind in the last half to win.

Michigan Swimmers Pace East To Win Over West In Annual Water Meet

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla.—(AP)—Paced by Freshman Burwell (Bumpy) Jones, the University of Michigan's swimmers led the West to a 25-11 triumph in the 13th annual East-West men's collegiate swimming meet here Sunday.

The margin would have been even larger, but instead of giving three points for first, two for second and one for third, the meet was scored by giving one point to each of the first three finishers. Jones won the 400-meter freestyle, the 150-meter individual medley, and was a member of the third-place team in the 300-meter medley relay.

Benner Winner

Tom Benner, of Michigan, finished first in one of the three 50-meter freestyle heats, was a member of the second-place 200-meter freestyle relay team, and was a member of the team that finished second in the 400-meter freestyle relay.

Don Hill, also a Wolverine, was third in a 50-meter freestyle heat and was a member of the winning 400-meter freestyle relay team.
Ron Gora, of Michigan, was a member of the same relay teams.
Rusty Carlisle, of Michigan, trailed Jones across in the 150-meter individual medley, and Dick Gawboy of Purdue was third to give the west a sweep of the event.

Other Michigan swimmers among the point winners: Stewart Elliott, member of the West team that won the 200-meter breaststroke relay and also a member of the winning 400-yard breaststroke relay team.

Couch Pleased

John Sampson, member of the winning 400-meter backstroke relay team and member of the third-place 200-meter backstroke team.
Bernie Kahn, member of the winning 200-meter backstroke relay team.
Jim White, member of the winning 400-meter breaststroke team that also included Elliott.
J. Sampson, member of the third-place 200-meter backstroke relay team.
Matt Mann, Olympic swimming coach and head of swimming at the University of Michigan, was very pleased with the way the boys churned through the water in the Municipal Casino pool.

"The times were encouraging and the boys looked in awfully good shape," he said. "Usually at this time of year there is room for considerable improvement."

Finally Rack Up Some Touchdowns In Ice Bowl Tilt

FAIRBANKS, Alaska—(AP)—It took nearly all day to do it but they finally marked up some touchdowns in the annual Ice Bowl football game after four years of trying.
But then the days are short up here.
And once they got the hang of it the Ladd Air Force Base team really stacked up the touchdowns. They scored seven in beating the University of Alaska 47-0 in yesterday's annual snowbound affair.

The game started an hour and a half after sunrise and ended shortly after sunset. That's almost all day because the days here are now only about four hours long.
Weather conditions were favorable as weather conditions go for the Ice Bowl. It was a warm 10 above zero. Seven inches of snow lay on the field.

Five-Game Winning Streak Halted In International Loop

The five-game winning streak of the Grand Rapids Rockets, International Hockey league pacesetters, was snapped last night by the Toledo Mercurys.

Bill Lynn, Bill Purcell and George Burke pumped in third period goals to give Toledo a 4-2 victory in the Ohio City. George Parker had scored twice in the first period for Grand Rapids and Jim Cunningham had tallied in the second for Toledo.

Troy's opportunity to slip into second place went by the boards when the Bruins dropped a 3-1 decision to Detroit Hettche at Troy. O. Carl Liscomb got two goals and Stan Palmer one for Detroit.

Spartan Cagers Take Honors In Court Classic

EAST LANSING, Mich. — (AP)—The surprising Spartans of Michigan State College galloped away with team honors in the two nights of round-robin basketball competition against the IVY league here over the weekend.

Michigan State whipped Dartmouth 57-42 the first night and edged highly regarded Princeton 52-46 in Saturday's nightcap of the third annual basketball "classic."

Minnesota made it a sweep for the Big Ten by taking Princeton 63-57 and overpowering Dartmouth 75-62.

Scoring Consistency

Coach Pete Newell's Spartans have shown amazing consistency in their six wins against no losses this season to date. The score board also includes victories over Wayne 52-43, Denver 50-48, Marquette 53-48 and Detroit 52-47.

Michigan State was rated the sixth best defensive team in the nation in last week's NCAA statistics. The two tournament wins over thoroughly-throttled opposition should put MSC near the top of the list this week.

Michigan State managed its wins despite the lack of any sensational high scorer. Sophomore Forward Keith Stackhouse was high with 64 points, followed by Forward Bill Bower with 54.

Face Iowa

The Spartans play another non-conference game Wednesday against Notre Dame at South Bend, Ind. They jump into Big Ten play Saturday with a home game against Iowa.

Minnesota Guard Chuck Mencil set a new single game scoring record for the classic Saturday night with his 24 points against Dartmouth. The old record of 23 points was held by Danny Smith of Michigan State two ye ars ago.

Forward Bill Biggs of Dartmouth matched shots with Mencil throughout the game until a leg injury forced him to retire with 23 points in the third period. Princeton Guard Chuck Devoe was voted "most valuable" player in the tourney for his 21 points against Minnesota and 15 against Michigan State.

NEW YORK—(AP)—The first North American hockey team to play in Japan as a North Battleford, Sask., club which went over 15 or more years ago. Upon arrival, the Canadian players were surrounded by a group of young men with notebooks and a wide assortment of questions. In the first game they discovered that the interviewers, who had asked so much about their style of play, weren't newspapermen, but members of the opposing team. Today a bunch of kids from New York's Metropolitan league is slated to leave San Francisco for the second hockey invasion of Japan and no doubt they'll encounter a few surprises. They're mostly Manhattan and Brooklyn boys who seldom have played hockey anywhere but on the Garden rink. Two of them, Richard Svoboda and Eugene Scott, are products of the local "peewee" program. The other night when the Rangers game was delayed, Tom Lockhart rounded up the Japan-bound squad to play an exhibition period against the Manhattan Arrows. One of the boys broke a finger in this clash and burst out crying because he thought he couldn't play in Japan. "What the heck?" Growled old pro Lockhart. "He'll be able to hold a stick in about a week and we couldn't take the trip away from him because he tried to help out."

William J. Duchaine, editor of the Escanaba Daily Press, today was commended by the Escanaba Rotary Club for his years of service in the promotion of the Delta county community and was presented with a gift on the eve of his retirement as editor to accept employment with the American Playground Device company.

O. V. Thatcher voiced the praise of the organization for Duchaine's "promotion of good things for the community through many long years."

Duchaine leaves the Daily Press today to become public relations director of the Playground Device company, purchasers of the village of Nahma. The company's main plant is at Anderson, Ind., and the owners propose the establishment of a branch factory at Nahma.

The company has made definite plans for the development of the Nahma community, Duchaine reported. The area has natural advantages as a tourist center for the Hiawatha National Forest region, as well as an industrial future, the new owners believe.

Club house, golf course, homes, thousands of forest acres, a sand beach and five miles of railroad were included in the purchase. It is proposed to keep the railroad intact, to establish a logging museum, and to present a park playground display of the company's devices at Nahma, Duchaine reported.

The Duchaines will continue to reside in Escanaba for the time being.

Wall Street

By RADER WINGET

NEW YORK—(P)—Trading was very slow today in the stock market with many leading issues not even appearing on the tape until well after the opening.

Prices moved with the same reluctance in a fractional range. A slightly higher bulge in the oils and chemicals served to give the whole list an upward slant.

For the most part it was a book-keeping session to get things all straightened on the last day of the year.

Monsanto Chemical opened on a block of 1,500 shares up 3/4 at 105. American Cyanamid was up a little more than a point at around 119 with only a handful of shares changing hands. These two changes were by far the biggest in the list.

Prices moved up last week. Saturday the Associated Press average of 60 stocks was unchanged at $98.40.

Stocks going higher today included Standard Oil (N. J.), Texas Co., Santa Fe, Commonwealth Edison, Allied Chemical, DuPont, General Electric, American Woolen, and United Aircraft.

Corporate bonds were higher.

Allied Hill Held By Reds In 4-Day UN Counterattack

SEOUL, Korea—(P)—Communist troops clung stubbornly to an allied hill position on the western front today in the face of a U. N. counterattack now in its fourth day.

The battle for the snow-covered west of Korangpo was hand-to-hand at times, in temperatures as low as 20 degrees below zero.

Driven off the hill Friday by a battalion of Chinese Reds supported by 10 tanks of self-propelled heavy guns.

An Eighth Army briefing officer said allied troops backed by four tanks and low-flying planes failed to knock the dug-in Reds off the hill in a weekend attack.

U. N. forces moved out again Monday, the Eighth Army communique said, but a new snow storm curtailed aerial operations.

The battle raged 30 miles north of Seoul, less than 10 miles northeast of the truce talk village of Panmunjom.

Soldier Kills Girl In Indiana Church, Then Shoots Himself

BOURBON, Ind.—(P)—A soldier on leave shot and killed a 16 year old Mentone, Ind., girl last night as she sat among 200 worshippers in the Apostolic church. He then killed himself.

State police said Omer Shoemaker, 24, Akron, Ind., shot Ruth Golden in the back of the neck and spine, apparently because she wouldn't have dates with him.

He then shot himself in the temple, staggered out of the church, drove four blocks, stalled the car in a snow bank and fired two more bullets into his body. He was found in blood soaked snow beside the car.

Horrified witnesses watched as Shoemaker fired five shots at the pretty dark haired girl. Two hit her, a third hit Judy Faulkner, 13, of Bourbon, Ind., in the hip and the other two went wild. The Faulkner girl was not seriously injured.

efforts of the French army and anti-Communist native people plus American aid. However, there are "dangerous signs" of further Communist aggression there.

4. Egypt—the crisis over the defense of the Suez Canal, brought on by differences between Egypt and Britain over the presence of British troops along the waterway, creates one of two danger spots in the middle east.

Better Than Year Ago

Against these uncertainties and potential perils of the new year, Acheson pictured the past year as one in which great progress was made in unifying and strengthening the free nations, especially in the North Atlantic area.

And he declared "there are grounds for confidence, but there are no grounds for complacency."

He extended his cautions about the critical importance of the new year to include an appeal for restraint in political controversies during the coming presidential campaign.

"If we are to continue to bear our responsibilities in the world—on which the issue of peace or war hangs in the balance," he said, "we can not afford to let excesses of partisan zeal blind us to the sober requirements of our national interest."

"And we must always remember that we can not find security for ourselves, nor inspiration to those who are on our side, if we here in America trample our own best traditions by prejudice or by a hysterical distortion of the fight against tyranny."

After reviewing the accomplishments of the closing year, Acheson said:

"What it adds up to is that we have had both gains and losses in 1951 but that we are better off than we were a year ago."

Three Shot, 2 Dead In Holiday Party At Santa Monica, Calif.

SANTA MONICA, Calif.—(P)—A holiday party left two women slain, a man wounded and another man in jail on suspicion of murder.

Paul M. Beck, Goleta, Calif., collapsed naked at officers' feet as they arrived to investigate. Beck's wife is a patient at the sanitarium where the nurses worked.

Asst. Police Chief Charles Horn said Beck gave information which led to the arrest of Merton C. Misener, 34, aircraft worker.

Beck suffered a gunshot wound in one arm and knife wounds in the chest and head.

Horn said Misener neither confirmed or denied the shootings.

Pope Sends Blessing To Captives Of Reds Throughout World

VATICAN CITY—(P)—Pope Pius XII broadcast his blessing yesterday to prisoners throughout the world—particularly those jailed in Communist lands.

The prisoners' fate, he said "is much more painful in many countries because they suffer innocently due to unjust laws x x x whereby the services of God is a crime."

The Holy Father also made special mention of the plight of youthful prisoners. He charged that:

"The press, the shows, the associations and sometimes even the schools make profits and sometimes deliberately corrupt the children, reaping upon the sacred innocence of the little ones and building up immense moral ruins."

without a trace. The twin-engine C-46, owned by Continental Charters, Inc., of Miami, left Pittsburgh Saturday night at 9:47 p. m. (Eastern Standard Time) on a non-scheduled flight to Buffalo with seven crew members and 33 passengers.

The silvery ship, purchased from the government about six months ago, had a three-hour gasoline supply for a 190-mile trip expected to take one hour.

Continental President John A. Belding arrived from Miami to join the search.

"I'm hopeful we will find the plane and that everyone will be alive. I don't know what could have happened."

Capt. Alexander Wozniak of the U. S. Air Force, is in charge of the aerial search. Which will cover much of Lake Erie and some Canadian territory.

More than 300 persons aided state police and foresters in a ground search of the area at the southern tip of the Allegheny National Forest about 18 miles north of Brookville, Pa., and 100 miles north of Pittsburgh.

Carried 19 Cadets

PHOENIX, Ariz.—(P)—Nineteen cadets from the U. S. Military Academy at West Point were among the 28 persons on a military transport plane missing 18 hours after radioing for landing instructions.

Bad weather throughout Arizona today hampered the search for the big C-47 plane and an F-51 fighter plane which also has been missing since yesterday afternoon.

At Hamilton Air Force Base in California, it was reported the cadets were among the 28 aboard. They presumably were returning to the academy after Christmas with their families in northern California.

Hamilton said the plane carried five other military passengers and a crew of four.

No word from either the C-47 or the F-51 was received during the night.

Ornery Cat And Pig Send 13 To Hospitals

NEW YORK—(P)—A New York cat and an Alabama pig sent 13 innocent human beings to hospitals yesterday.

The one-year-old cat bit and scratched its owner, Mrs. May Flannigan, 68, from head to toe as the woman tried to enter her kitchen.

When Michael Flannigan, 69, came to his wife's defense, he was similarly attacked by the cat. Both persons were hospitalized.

The pig dashed across an Auburn, Ala., road in front of an automobile driven by Willie B. Woodall of Auburn. The result was a head-on collision with a car driven by Jerome J. Gambino of Mansfield Center, Conn.

Six persons were injured in the Gambino car and five in Woodall's.

Child Strangled With Stocking By Baby-Sitter, 16

LOS ANGELES — (P) — A 16-year-old baby sitter related to police how she watched a murder mystery on television, then strangled a sleeping 6-year-old girl with a stocking.

"I did it, but I don't have any reasons," Sheriff's investigators quoted the high school sophomore, Delora Mae Campbell, as saying soon after a neighbor discovered the tragedy.

Delora Mae, in jail on a murder booking, told deputies that as she lay on the couch after watching the television program, she "had a vision."

"I saw a girl lying in bed with her arms folded across her chest and a green necktie around her neck," Delora Mae said.

The girl was Donna Joyce Isbell, blonde daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Isbell. She died with her father's black navy sock wound tightly around her throat and with the end of a sheet wedged into her mouth.

"Donna didn't scream," said Delora Mae placidly. "She just lifted her arms once, then fell back."

It happened Saturday night while Donna's mother was working the late shift at Douglas Aircraft. The father, a petty officer, was on duty at the Los Alamitos Naval Air Station. The dead girl's 8-year-old brother, Roy Allen, slept through it all on a nearby twin bed.

Mona Lake Flood Danger Ended By Escanaba Blasters

MUSKEGON, Mich.—High water of Mona lake continued flowing steadily into Lake Michigan today easing the flood peril for some 200 homes in the area.

Norton Township Fire Chief Albert Lundwall, Jr., said the danger was over. He predicted the lake level would be back to normal by Wednesday.

The water level had dropped 13 inches since Friday when National Guard demolition experts from Escanaba dynamited the ice-choked channel into Lake Michigan.

Melting snow over the weekend fed additional water into the lake but by Sunday night the level was only nine inches above normal. This compared with a high of 22 inches above normal before the guardsmen started blasting.

Slippery Roads Put Crimp In New Year Trips

(By The Associated Press)

Freezing rain threatened today to dampen the New Year's Eve spirits of Michigan's celebrants.

Michigan got the rain as the year 1951 went out in a blizzard in the northern plains and a fog across the midwest. Rain fell on both coasts.

Southern California had floods in the Los Angeles and San Diego areas.

Michigan's rain will hang over through New Year's day, the weather man said.

Freezing rain is expected to develop in the west portion of the Upper Peninsula today and spread across the state by late tonight.

The state highway department warned motorists the freezing rain will leave slippery sections on many trunkline highways.

The rain is expected to change into snow in the Upper Peninsula by tomorrow.

Christmas Delayed For 200 Snowbound In Atlanta, Idaho

BOISE, Idaho—(P)—Christmas is being delayed for some 200 inhabitants of the remote mining hamlet of Atlanta, Idaho.

The community, on the headwaters of the Boise river, has been snowbound since Dec. 22 and about 25 sacks of mail, mostly Christmas gifts and greetings, are being held here.

An effort to fly the mail in was stymied when the plane was grounded by a snow storm.

Carl Whitmore, operator of the Boise-Atlanta stage, said slides and snow on the road above Arrowrock made it impossible for his driver to get through.

All communications with the hamlet are shut off. Telephone lines are down and there is no radio contact. But officials at Bradley Field said residents of Atlanta are used to being cut off and are probably well stocked with food.

Each had been drinking and annoying those sitting near him.
